The curtain rises. The long-awaited and well-rehearsed performance is about to begin.

As the actor moves toward his place on stage his mind wanders . . . the play is complex and the role demanding.

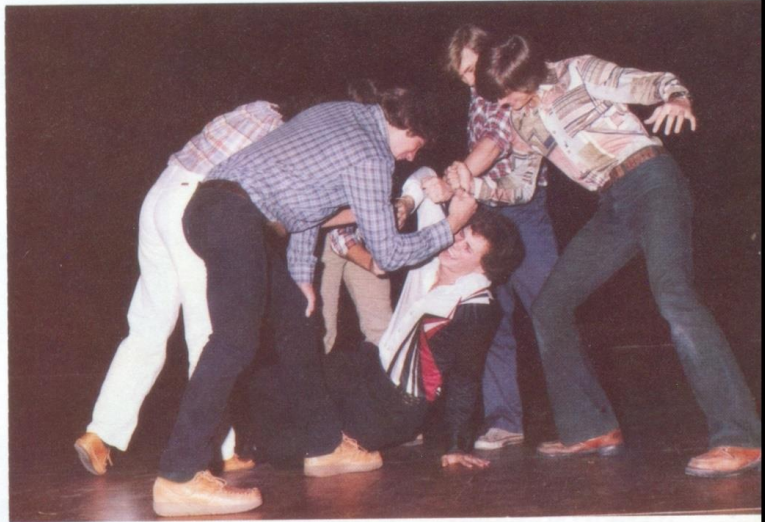

Many obstacles had to be overcome before his name appeared in lights.

When rehearsals started, everything seemed new — even the stage. The actor first had to feel at home in his new environment.

As he became more at ease with the stage, he found he could devote time and energy to the development of his role.

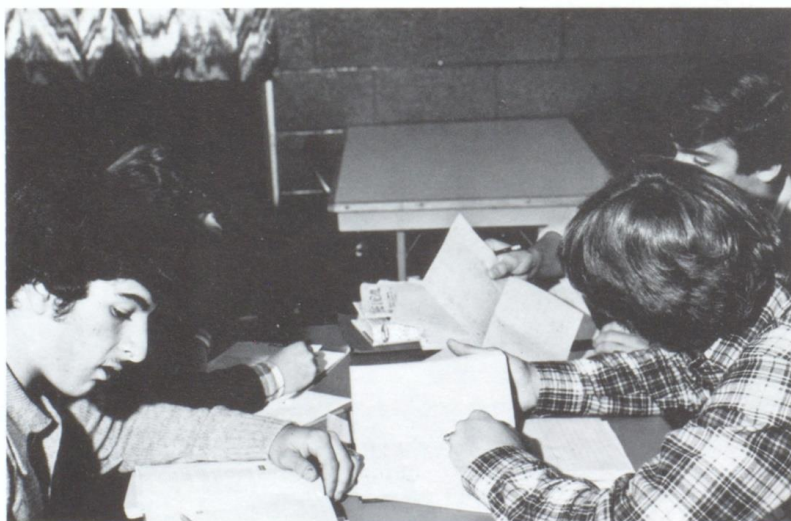

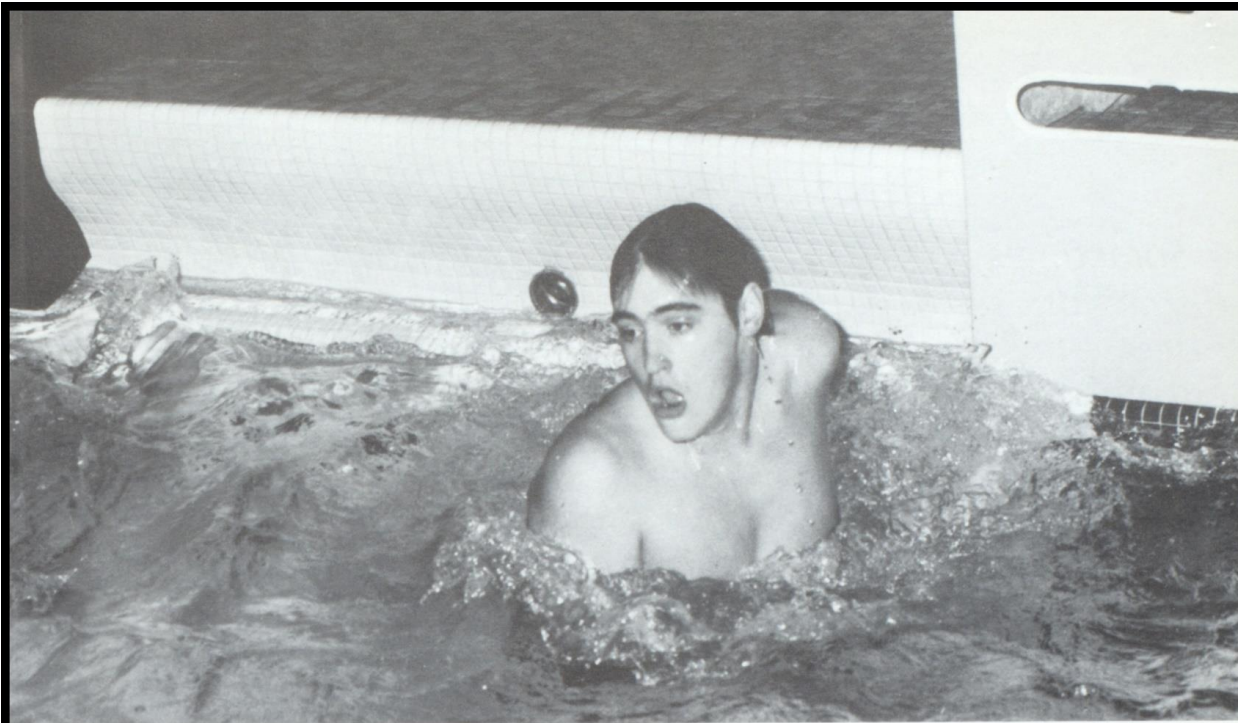

Soon the dialogue seemed natural and the interaction with other characters was no longer strained. He had added dimension to his character and was filled with a sense of purpose.

Sometimes distractions seemed to disguise this purpose but, with the help of his directors, producers and stage managers, the actor managed to regain direction.

After tiresome preparation and after experimenting with many interpretations, the actor was now in complete control of his character.

Standing on the stage the actor views the finished product: the props are in their assigned places, the spotlights are strategically placed and the set is solidly constructed. He is not alone, for his friends await their entrance in the wings.

The actor takes a deep breath; he is primed and ready to give his best.

The play begins . . .

Just as the actor achieved success, dealt with failure and gained wisdom we, too, have been able to do this on our stage. However, the similarity between us ends with the finale.

When the footlights faded on his stage, the actor had fulfilled his role, the mystery had been solved and all the loose ends were neatly tied. The production was over for all.

*When the curtain falls on our high school years
the ending will not be so final. Our roles are unending and our achievements here will influence all the other stages of our lives.*

For us, the mystery remains unsolved; the challenge beckons us to overcome.

As our final season comes to a close, we will be fully prepared to accept our future roles. Through his unending patience and endurance as a friend, director and teacher, he has aided each student in the development of his character.

ATTENTION SENIORS!

Our final year of high school has come to a close. We have crossed a bridge in the journey of life. Now on the other side, we pause to look behind us . . .

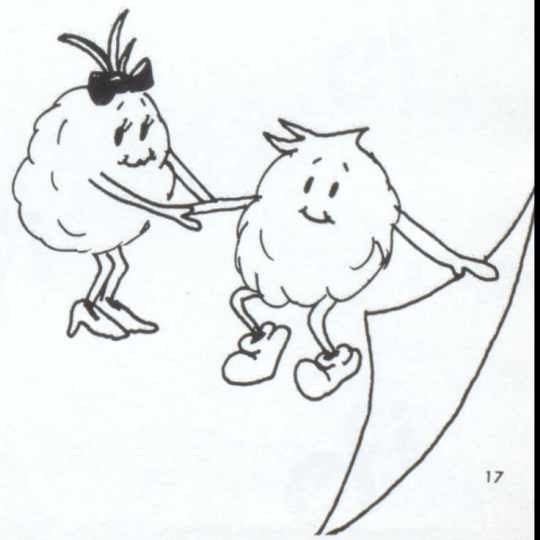

We remember that before we crossed our bridge we were anxious to see what was on the other side. We wondered what our future years would bring us. Once we began our journey, preparation took the place of wonder — we prepared ourselves to successfully meet the future. We found that through interaction with our fellow travelers we could all benefit from each other's mistakes. Consequently, all along the way our character was developing as we were striving to better ourselves. We learned that the development of our admirable qualities and the overcoming of our flaws were the necessary ingredients for success. Our four-year journey across the bridge has enabled us to grow in wisdom and maturity.

. . . As we stand on the new bank looking behind us, we realize that this bridge is only a small part of our journey in life. A long road lies before us — a road on which we will continue to grow and learn. Our bridge has provided us with the experiences to guide us along this path. Our capability of retaining the lessons of the past and using them to meet the challenges of the future will be our most powerful asset. We realize that our bridge is the passage way into the future.

I, Brenda Fargo, leave all my empty Kahlua bottles to Linda and Nancy.
I, Sandy Farmer, leave my BIG mouth to any quiet underclassman.
I, Roger Ferland, leave my pillow to any sophomore that has Mr. Flaherty for Chemistry.
I, Michele Fortin, leave my terrific Steno grades to my sister Denice. She needs all the help she can get.
I, Janice Frank, leave slowly but surely with my best friends

I, Janet Frawley, leave talking. How 'bout it Mr. Flaherty?
I, Martin Gebhart, leave 3 inches to John Amoroso and 15 pounds to John Kurmaskie.
I, Paula Gehring, leave, well, I think I'll just leave.
I, Shelie Grant, leave my laugh and my smile to Dina Giampolo.

I, Wayne Grant, leave without being impeached. No Problem!
I, Judi Gray, leave . . .
I, Eric Gross, leave the percussion section of the marching band and Louie B's Duhh!
to Mr. Rinaldi and my Fuzz Box to Doug D.
I, Gary Hamilton, leave Pete wondering if he'll ever get that return pass on the give-and-go.

I, Debbie Harrigan, leave my headaches behind.
I, Lori Hollis, leave my '69 Plymouth bomb to anyone who can start it in the morning.
I, Holmes T, leave to find out how much I didn't learn.
I, Marybeth Johnson, leave my flip turns to Coach Levine and place in lane 6 to a deserving rookie.
I, Maria Karolczuk, leave on the Magical Mystery Tour with The Beatles, with a reserved seat for MaryAnn. P.S. Kathy and Susan, "It was Great!"

I, Karen Keney, leave my notorious laugh and also good and sad memories to Windsor Locks High and my friends.
I, Kim Keney, leave my smile, with teeth without cavities and fillings.
I, Bill King, leave Ron Pepin and Mitch Frank with empty hands.
I, Lynn Koren, leave my early dismissals to whoever wants them and my mittens to John.
I, John Krajewski, leave the school right where it stands.
I, Mary Kryszpin, leave free to face whatever life holds for me.
I, Stacey LaBree, leave my "mush" to Terri M., my comments to David S., my happy feet to the next Steve Martin freak, and to Mr. Scelza the word "theoretically."
I, David Lang, leave my ritual of running down to the goal and tapping each post before the half to all future WLHS soccer goalies.
I, Bonnie Lawson, leave very willingly.

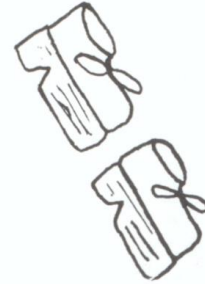

I, Debbie Leach, leave my steno pad to whoever is daring enough to transcribe it.
I, Mike Leary, leave my head behind the school, in the bathrooms, in the parking lot, on the football field, etc.
I, Yolande Lecours, leave philosophizing.
I, Laura Lefebvre, leave my vocab. in Senior Math, my steno in History, my Spanish in lunch, and my voice in chorus.

I, Lorie Leone, leave early as usual.

I, Diane Levesque, leave my "short" poem to all the short underclassmen.
I, Mark Lillibridge, leave the American dream of success and fortune to all the would-be actors of the future.

Cannon Mountain

Senior Ski Weekend

A change of scene:
New Hampshire in the snow.

Is that Yolande behind those Foster Grants?

Did you say that the food was supposed to be good here?

This year for the first time, Windsor Locks High School has added two exchange students to the senior class: Carla Cerrato of Italy and Maria Xavier of Brazil. Both Carla and Maria came to the United States unable to speak English. They came to experience a new way of life, family, friends, school, and much more. We, the class of '79 are glad to have been a part of this new experience. They have been an asset to our class and school. We are proud to have them as members of our class, and especially proud to have them as our friends.

Carla Cerrato

Friendship knows no language or boundary. It transcends cultures and travels outward from the heart.

144

Maria Xavier

Dear Carla and Maria,

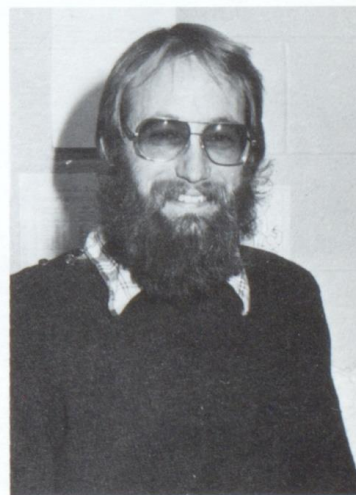

We will have many fond memories of your stay with us. We wish you the best of luck in your careers. May you have happy memories and much happiness in the future.

Your friends,
The Class of '79

WHEN THE U.S. SKI TEAM SAYS
THEY DRIVE A SUBARU, THEY'RE NOT SNOWING YOU.

People who get around on snow really appreciate a car that does, too. That's why the Subaru 4 Wheel Drive Wagon is the official car of the U.S. Ski Team.

Besides having the lowest sticker price of any 4 wheel drive wagon on the road today, our wagon features ☐ full-time front wheel drive ☐ 4 wheel drive with the flick of a lever ☐ rack and pinion steering ☐ power assist front disc brakes and ☐ the efficient 1600 SEEC-T engine.

The Subaru 4 Wheel Drive Wagon. If you want to make tracks, it makes sense.
